July 28, 2008 - Toronto, Ontario, Canada: Escape Gold Inc. (Escape or the Company), President and CEO, T. John Magee would like to announce that Mike Desmeules and his First Nations company, Ackewance Exploration & Services (Ackewance) has been appointed as a special advisor to co-ordinate the First Nations consultation process on behalf of Escape. In addition to this very important role, Ackewance will supervise the proposed exploration program pending receipt of the final Fugro airborne survey results at our volcanogenic massive sulphide (VMS) target in North Western Ontario.

Ackewance is based out of Red Lake Ontario and has successfully supervised exploration programs within the traditional territories of many First Nations communities. Mike Desmeules is proud of his track record and his ability to teach, train and provide employment opportunities for members of the local first Nations communities in northern Ontario.

The initial consultation process resulted in accommodation's being made to the design and timing of Escape's exploration program respecting the traditional Spring and Fall Festive hunting seasons. The Company looks forward to working closely through the consultation process under the guidance of Ackewance.

The prospective VMS base metal target area was first identified by a major mining company conducting reconnaissance airborne geophysical surveys and diamond drilling in the early 1970's looking for potential extensions of the Thompson nickel belt into northern Ontario. Escape has a 100% interest in 5,312 hectares of land in the Sachigo Greenstone Belt surrounding the original property subject to the Shoreham Resources Ltd. option agreement in which Escape can earn a 60% interest in the prospective 1,472 hectare property as previously announced.
